ANTI-JAP BILL ADOPTED; BRYAN'S MISSION FAILURE

California Senate, at Mid-night, Takes Up Measure Containing "Eligible to Citizenship" Feature Which Secretary Opposed and It Will Become Law.

Johnson Says Treaty Rights Will Be Observed and Japanese Will Not Be Singled Out—"No Desire to Embarrass U. S."

At Conference Bryan Had Read President's Telegram Saying He Assumed Advice Would Not Be Disregarded.

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 30.—California's first step toward the enactment of an alien land law contrary to the advice of Secretary of State Bryan and President Wilson was taken last night within three minutes after Secretary Bryan told the legislative conference that his official mission had been spoken.

The Senate, before which the Bird-sall-Thompson bill was pending, met in a hurried session shortly before midnight, and within three minutes voted to substitute for that measure the new draft known as the Webb act, which was completed by Attorney-General Webb only yesterday. The substitute was adopted as an amendment and the bill sent to the printer with a rush order.

Owing to the absence of Bryan in San Francisco, whether he went today as the guest of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Co., it is the plan of the Senate leaders to take no further action on the bill until Thursday, when it will come up in the regular course of business, and, it is said, undoubtedly will be passed.

Governor Will Sign Bill. The measure then will go to the Assembly, and finally to the Governor, who has stated he would sign the measure at once.

The phrase, "ineligible to citizenship," is avoided in the Webb bill by providing two descriptions of aliens and defining the rights of each as follows:

1. All aliens eligible to citizenship may acquire and hold land in the same manner as citizens of the United States.
2. All other aliens may acquire, possess and transfer land "in the manner and to the extent and for the purposes prescribed by any treaty now existing between the Government of the United States and the nation or country of which such alien is a citizen or subject."

As the treaty between the United States and Japan specifies that land may be acquired or leased only for residential purposes, or for factories and shops, the act is held to be a rigid restriction on the acquisition of farming lands by the Japanese.

Senator Leroy A. Wright, Republican, who opposes the bill, declares the wording of the act is a subterfuge intended to deceive the Japanese. Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford University, also says the measure carries the sting of discrimination, contrary to Secretary Bryan's advice.

In spite of the apparent overwhelming majority in favor of the legislation, Senator Leroy Wright (Rep.), is planning to fight the measure when it comes to a final vote. He had a long conference with Secretary Bryan.

The bill adopted is known as the Webb bill, but it is in reality the old Bird-sall bill with several provisions passed on by Attorney-General Webb inserted. Such portions of the Bird-sall bill as were not in conflict with the new draft submitted by the Attorney-General were allowed to stand.

The new bill is drawn in strict conformity with the treaty between Japan and the United States, but all efforts to get an opinion on the effect of the bill on our relations with Japan from Secretary Bryan or President Wilson failed, and the State leaders decided forthwith to proceed with their plans for enacting it into law.

Law That Bryan Favored. Secretary Bryan said yesterday he would be in favor of a law framed along the lines of the Illinois law or the Federal statute in the District of Columbia.

"Either of these measures is preferable to language that includes the words 'ineligible to citizenship,'" he added. "President Wilson believes that if you use these words you might as well make a law specifically against Japanese and Chinese ownership. This expresses the views of the President. He desires me to say that if such a law is passed he will recognize his duty as President is to do all in his power to minimize the ill feeling that might be aroused. At the same time, he believes it his duty as President to urge earnest consideration of his advice, which is given here with no desire to interfere with what you may regard as necessary. And further he urges that if you proceed at once you consider the advisability of using language that cannot be justly criticized as of-

MRS. H. C. O'NEIL'S DIVORCE SUIT IS ORDERED DROPPED

The divorce suit begun by Mrs. Henry C. O'Neil of 6 Hortense place against Henry C. O'Neil, president of the O'Neil Land and Lumber Co., was dismissed Wednesday in Judge Fisher's court on a memorandum signed by counsel for Mrs. O'Neil, Morton Jourdan, attorney for O'Neil, told the Court that the O'Neils had become reconciled.

In her petition Mrs. O'Neil said that her husband criticized her management of the household and refused to talk to her for periods of several days. They were married in July, 1901, and separated last February. The divorce bill, which was filed March 20, alleged O'Neil owned property worth $50,000.

O'Neil told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the filing of the suit in the first place was a mistake and that it had come about through a misunderstanding.

ENDS LIFE AFTER SHOCK OF FINDING A BODY ON TRACK

Walter Rothaug, 28 years old, a farmer, shot and killed himself at 4 a. m. Wednesday, at his father's home near Mascoutah, Ill.

His father told the Post-Dispatch that the young man had been a prey to nervous fears since a week ago Sunday when he and a brother were walking along the railroad tracks near Sumnerfield, Ill., when they found the body of a man who had been killed by a train.

His relatives believed the excitement of the household and refused to talk to her for periods of several days. They were married in July, 1901, and separated last February. The divorce bill, which was filed March 20, alleged O'Neil owned property worth $50,000.

LODGE TREASURER ON WIFE'S ADVICE CONFESSES THEFTS

Jacob E. Herbst, Father of 3 Boys, Says $1061 Went to Support Them.

Jacob E. Herbst of 351 Utah street, who has a wife and three boys, and who until a year ago earned but $10 a week as a shoe salesman, was arrested Wednesday, and confessed to the police that he had embezzled the funds of Magnolia Camp, Woodmen of the World, for which he was banker. He made a confession to the lodge five weeks ago. An Auditing Committee has estimated his shortage at $1061.

Herbst declared he had not spent a cent of the money in any form of extravagance or dissipation. All had gone, he said, for his needs and those of his family. His sons are 12, 14 and 16 years old. For the past year his salary has been $15 a week, but this increase did not enable him to replace the money he had taken, or, after he formed the habit, to stop taking money from the lodge's funds.

Herbst is 36 years old. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter at police headquarters how he yielded to the temptation to take other people's money. He said:

"One day my boy just had to have some new clothes, and the only money I had was the rent money. I was afraid if I got behind with the rent I could never catch up. I used to carry the lodge's money from the meeting night until noon the next day, when I would take it to the bank. That day I had a quantity of lodge money and I borrowed $5 of it, meaning to return it."

"The most money I ever took was $30, which went for the rent and for new clothes for myself and the family."

"Five weeks ago, I realized I was up against it, and told my wife. On her advice, I went before the lodge, and told the members. The members at first seemed to sympathize with me, and to be willing to help me out, but when they found how much was missing, the officers of the lodge notified the National Surety Co., which was on my bond."

The lodge meets at 2200 South Broadway, and has 512 members. William F. Mobley, consul-commander of the lodge, and officials of the surety company made the complaint which caused Herbst's arrest. The Auditing Committee consisted of Henry Kaiser, a hardware merchant; Earl Wachter, a bricklayer, and a third member named Winkler.

ANDY GAZZOLO IN HIS BEST TOGS IS MAYOR-FOR-A-DAY

Gives Away Box of Kiel's Best Cigars to Democrats and Signs Some Pardons.

Andy Gazzolo, proprietor of a Morgan street saloon, was "chief functionary" of St. Louis Tuesday. This is Andy's way of telling that he was Mayor for 50,000 persons during the one day's absence of Mayor Kiel.

When Gazzolo, by virtue of being Speaker of the House of Delegates, was notified in the morning that in the absence of both the Mayor and the President of the Council, the duty of being Mayor devolved upon him, he was all smiles. Andy topped himself out in his best gray business suit, black bow tie and soft gray hat, had his shoes freshly polished, and hurried down to the city hall.

Thomas H. Rogers, Mayor Kiel's secretary, greeted Gazzolo with "good morning, Mr. Mayor," when Andy strode into the outer office.

"Cut that out Tom," said Andy. "I'm no Mr. Mayor. I'm just a functionary. My first order will be that you shall call me Andy, and not Mr. Mayor, and I'll call you Tom, just like I always have."

Here are some of the things Andy did as "chief functionary" of the city for one day:

Distributed one box of Mayor Kiel's finest cigars among the Democratic friends who called to congratulate him.

Listened to an hour's conversation on the free bridge and Southern Traction Co. of Illinois' loop franchise by Jephthah D. Howe.

BIGGEST CROWD SINCE FAIR DAYS SEES DEDICATION

Throngs Line Boulevard for Parade Preceding Jefferson Ceremony in Park.

FRANCIS PRESENTS KEYS OF BUILDING TO KIEL

Mayor in Acceptance Address Urges Development of Transportation—Women Descendants of Jefferson Unveil Statue and Louisiana Purchase Tablet.

The largest crowd seen in Forest Park since World's Fair days assembled Wednesday afternoon, under perfect weather conditions, for the outdoor dedication of the new Jefferson Memorial Building. The day was the tenth anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition dedication.

Public offices and many private places of business were closed for the afternoon and thousands of downtown workers swelled the crowds which moved out Lindell boulevard, seeking vantage points to see the automobile parade, or that which grouped itself in front of the new statue building and within view of the shrouded statue of Thomas Jefferson.

From Grand avenue west to De Balve avenue, Lindell boulevard was lined with people from all parts of St. Louis and with visitors from outside the city. The largest crowds were around Grand avenue, the starting point of the parade; near the Vandeventer avenue and Sarah street car crossings, in front of the New Cathedral and at King's highway.

The exercises at the memorial were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. S. J. Nicoll, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. David R. Francis, as president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., presided and made the dedication, turning over the keys of the building to Mayor Kiel, the city's representative.

Kiel, accepting the keys, made a 12-minute address in which he alluded to the history of the Louisiana Purchase and the development of the past century. Mentioning the railroad of St. Louis and the transportation development of the West, the Mayor said:

"Even the inhabitants of this wonderful valley are not alive to their opportunity. But the development of the next few years must impress upon them the necessity for turning aside a portion of their energy from agricultural pursuit to a system of getting their produce to the markets of the world. The hindrance of the New England states—the same hindrance which Jefferson expected—must be cast aside. The Central West will have to plan and execute for the entire West."

River improvement, the very transportation which was given the territory by the hand of God, lies within the taking. In recent years it has been demonstrated that the railroads are unable to handle the large amount of traffic which comes in and goes out of the Louisiana Purchase every 12 months. And yet the construction of the Panama Canal means the many-folding of the output of the valley.

The exercise of the power that rests alone within the territory is sufficient to construct the necessary improvements. The same energy that developed the country in the past 100 years, applied to the trade and transportation problems, will construct a deep waterway. Thereby the territory purchased from France will become the trade center as well as the agricultural center of the country."

He promised for himself, and pledged for future administrations, that the Memorial Building would be maintained "in a way fitting to its great purpose."

Diplomats Arrive Late. The dinner given by David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., to visiting Senators, Congressmen and diplomats, at the unveiling began at 1:30 p. m. The dinner waited for Gov. Dunne of Illinois, whose train from Springfield was late. When he arrived, all went into the dining room except James E. Smith, who remained outside to await the arrival of the Latin American diplomats. The envoys from the "manana" countries were very late, and Smith expressed fear that neither they nor he would get much to eat.

Some of the St. Louis guests were Al Shapleigh, the Rev. E. J. Nicoll, Nicholas M. Bell, John Scullin, Nathan Frank, Shepard Barclay, William H. Lee, Mayor Kiel, Congressman Dyer, Patrick Gill, George Tanney and Breckinridge Jones. Senator Reed, a political antagonist of Francis, was one of his dinner guests.

Girls' Yells Electrified Crowd. One hundred Central High School girls, wearing red caps, waving pennants and shouting school yells, helped to entertain the crowd about the memorial during the wait for the beginning of the ceremonies. The crowd outside the ropes which marked the official inclosure was a merry one, and arriving

DAY'S PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DEDICATION

PARADE started from Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard shortly after 9 a. m., and moving west on Lindell boulevard will end in front of the Memorial Building at the De Balve avenue entrance to Forest Park.

Govs. Major and Dunne, William M. Thornton, senator of the day, congressional party and diplomats started for Memorial Building at 11:30 a. m. for luncheon at the St. Louis Club.

Exercises at Memorial Building will begin before 3 p. m., with invocation by the Rev. S. J. Nicoll. Miss Natalie Norton will unveil Jefferson statue.

Mrs. Dixie Wells Manning will unveil "Signing of the Treaty" statue.

Following unveiling ceremonies parade will be reviewed from the speakers' stand.

Dinner at Hotel Jefferson Wednesday night will be attended by 250 guests.

World's Fair directors and other well known St. Louisans, in frock coats and silk hats, were greeted by applause. Some of the early arrivals in this class were Murray Carleton, R. H. Stockton, Judge Frank Farris, D. C. Nugent, M. L. Wilkinson, W. C. Steigler, Isaac S. Taylor and George Julian Zolnay.

Miss Natalie Norton and Mrs. Dixie Wells Manning, descendants of Jefferson, to whom had been assigned the task of unveiling the Jefferson statue and the treaty group, respectively, received much attention. They wore white gowns, with bouquets of pink flowers, and combined the functions of debutantes and of hostesses.

Before 1 o'clock the sections of the parade began forming around Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard. The Jefferson Barracks soldiers, who left the barracks on a special Iron Mountain train at 11:45 p. m., left the train at Spring avenue and marched to the starting point of the procession.

Students in the Parade. Civil and military organizations, including the First Regiment and students of the high schools and of St. Louis University, assembled early. Many bands were interspersed between the different divisions of the parade.

William M. Thornton of the University of Virginia was the orator of the day. He has made a life study of the life, works and political views of Thomas Jefferson.

Senator W. L. Jones of Washington will deliver an address after the unveiling of the tablet. By that time, it is expected, the procession, whose starting point is Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard, will reach the memorial.

Francis Host at Banquet. At a banquet at Hotel Jefferson Wednesday night Senators Kenyon, Iowa and Hughes of New Jersey, representatives of Collopy of Indiana, Kahn of California and Govs. Major and Dunne will speak. President Francis of the exposition company will be the host.

Senators Jones, Kenyon, Hughes, with the delegation of Congressmen and diplomats, arrived at Union Station Tuesday evening. Later the Illinois group, led by Governor Palmer, followed. A number of the West's big game animals, with a dinner at the Planters Hotel. The speakers were A. C. Shapleigh, president of the Exposition, and C. F. Wommersley, Louisiana Governor. TARIFF CUT WON'T CUT WAGES, SAYS A. F. L. SECRETARY

Frank Morrison Points Out That Some Protected Trusts Have Held Down the Scale.

By S. M. WILLIAMS.
Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, April 30.—The American Federation of Labor, 2,000,000 strong, and a number of these members saying that reduction of the tariff for commodities will bring about a reduction of workingmen's wages.

The headquarter in Washington of the greatest of labor unions, Frank Morrison, general secretary, the man in the labor movement with its activities and its sentiment, was asked what would be the result if tariff reductions brought about wage reductions. This was his answer:

"Labor's wages will not be cut. Little of our wages cannot be cut because in full many industries they are already at the teapost of living point. If any attempt is made there will be strikes all along the food line. It will be fought to the finish. We of it in the midst of a tremendous campaign of organization to strengthen the union of labor against further exploitation of the benefit of capital."

Wages by Trusts.
Morrison said that, as a rule, the tariff protection an industry afforded, the lower the wages paid to its employees. Some of the most favored of protected trusts, like steel, sugar, wool, cotton, beef, have paid the worst starvation wages. Simply because capital is able to lose some of its protection profits, the burden cannot be shifted onto labor, and the worker had to contribute the loss out of his own pocket.

"Capital has had protection, but labor has had to face unrestricted competition. Importations of goods are taxed, but immigration is free. Employers have taken advantage of this, and exploited labor to the very limit, until now the exploited victims are revolting."

The cotton manufacturer, the silk manufacturer, the steel manufacturer, have had the advantage of a protected market for their products. But when labor sought its share of the rewards, there was no law to prevent the coming in of foreign labor to beat down wages.

The price of manufactured products could be raised to the limit of protection, but the price of labor could be kept down to the minimum by untaxed imports from Europe. There was merely a question of transportation to be reckoned with.

Work of the World.
Let us see what is happening. Millions of unskilled foreign labor are coming to this country to combat organized American labor, and turning on its employers. The demonstrations of the Industrial Workers of the World, the logical result of this exploitation of humanity. They were unorganized. They were, in many cases, ignorant and uneducated. They spoke the language of the country.

The employer took advantage of their weakness and screwed down wages. The men and women simply could not stand it any longer. They broke in revolt in Lawrence and now in Boston.

We of the American Federation of Labor are not responsible for these conditions. Capital has brought them on itself, because it sought to combat and beat organized labor with unorganized labor, and you see the result.

We believe in protection for American labor; not protection alone for American products. While a literary man may not be the best qualification for admission to this country, yet I favor the immigration bill along that line which President Taft vetoed last year. Since the law today gives practically free admission to foreign labor, the American Federation has undertaken on its own account a propaganda to restrict immigration.

We are sending everywhere throughout Europe notices to check the incoming tide at its source. We are urging that any proposed removal be deferred for two or three years until economic conditions in this country have an opportunity to adjust themselves to a better basis. Otherwise, we shall have a great mass of unskilled, unorganized labor dumped in upon the market, resulting in decreases in wages, increases in strikes and widespread suffering.

Our reports from the country at large indicate that there is about an even demand for labor. There is no appreciable slackening in industry, but there is a clearly defined tendency toward shading off the rewards of labor. It is not at present so much in the form of actual reductions in wages as it is in the requirements for increased output, which is equivalent to lower wages.

"Take the case of certain iron and steel mills around Pittsburgh. Every new manager coming into power around Pittsburgh has fresh schemes for more economical production that results in less net return to the laborer."

"We are entering on an era of vital interest to all classes of wages because of changing economic conditions. We believe that the only way to protect the laborer is by organization, and the American Federation of Labor is concentrating its efforts along that line. We are having rapid growth in numbers. The 2,000,000 mark has been passed. We are endeavoring to bring the unorganized in, to make them strong where they were weak."

"We are printing a newspaper in 15 languages to circulate among this great mass of foreign workingmen who have been so horribly exploited, not only to their own suffering, but to the injury of their fellow workers of America."

"No, there can be no reduction in wages because some of the tariff-protected trusts are in danger of losing their protection. The workingmen of America realize too clearly the state of affairs to permit that. I do not know what will happen, but labor is determined to fight any proposition that would reduce wages."

Messages From Wilson.
Secretary Bryan brought into the final conference last night further messages from President Wilson, but they met with no response from the legislators.

At the close of the secret meeting Gov. Johnson and a number of the administration leaders declared their opinion remained unchanged.

President Wilson's messages were in the form of replies to questions asked Secretary Bryan on the preceding day. In answer to the question as to the effect of a law containing the words "ineligible to citizenship" would have upon the Federal Government, President Wilson sent the following reply to Bryan:

"I can only say that I cannot assume that the representations heretofore made to the Governor and the Legislature, and which your presence in Sacramento must necessarily have greatly emphasized, will be disregarded, and so render it necessary to consider that question."

That was taken as the nearest approach to a threat of danger that has been made since the conference began. In reply to a question as to whether the substitute bill drawn by Attorney-General Webb, which was acted on by the Senate last night, would be acceptable, Secretary Bryan said:

"I have telegraphed to President Wilson and he deems it inadvisable to sanction any particular statutes in the form of legislation. He thinks that it should be made emphatically evident that we are acting just now as the Federal Government, sanctioning not this or that, but as friends of California, wishing to be of such service as is possible to California in a critical matter."

When Secretary Bryan concluded reading and discussing his messages the conference ended.

Gov. Johnson's statement. Gov. Johnson prepared a statement in which he expressed the views of the majority party. He said:

"Conferees between the Secretary of State and Legislature were concluded tonight. We were delighted with Mr. Bryan and all that he said was given the most attentive and respectful consideration. Every opportunity was accorded him, and the conference closed only when he stated that he had nothing further to say."

"The members of the government of California with unanimity expressed themselves as desiring to aid the National Government and in no wise to embarrass it."

"The spirit prevailing the meetings was one of friendly co-operation and full of patriotic purpose."

"After it all, though, I think the majority of the legislators felt, and I certainly do myself, that no sufficient reason has thus far been presented that should cause California to halt in any contemplated legislation."

"If any law be enacted, it may be a step toward the betterment of the race."

CORONER FINDS LYLE'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Two Witnesses Testify Ranken Heir Fell Down Dark Back Stairway

Hugh R. Lyle's death, the result of a fall down a stairway in Mrs. A. J. Moriarty's home, 7 Beverly place, where he was one of a group of guests, was declared by Deputy Coroner Fath, Wednesday to have been accidental. Two witnesses, Gwynne Evans of 4935 Forest Park boulevard and P. D. Moriarty, were heard.

They told how Lyle started for the second floor at 10 p. m. presumably to telephone for a taxicab to take him home, and how the others heard him fall down a darkened rear staircase. Moriarty said Lyle had been to the telephone box before, but might easily have mistaken the way.

Lyle's skull was fractured and he died Tuesday at the Jewish Hospital. He was one of the principal heirs to the estate of his cousin, David P. Ranken, who died last February.

"Well," said the guest, "bring me a piece of elephant steak."

"The negro looked puzzled a minute and passed out to the kitchen, but soon he returned and reported: 'Boss, we don't serve dem except whole. We ain't got no pieces.'"

WILSON WON'T BE REPRESENTED AT PEACE CONGRESS

President Is Urged to Speak at Session Here, After Secretary Bryan Wires He Is Detained in California, but Will Be Unable to Accept.

ADDRESS ON FEAR OF WAR BY CARNEGIE

Former Ironmaster Also Will Preside at the Odeon at a Symposium on "Disarmament"—He and His Wife Will Be Entertained.

President Wilson's administration will not be personally represented in the fourth American Peace Congress which opens its three-day program at the Odeon Thursday morning.

Secretary of State Bryan, who was to have made the final address Saturday night, has been detained in California and will not get here. On learning this, Wednesday morning, James E. Smith, chairman of the Executive Committee of the congress, wired to President Wilson, asking him to fill the vacant place on the program, and pointing out that he could do this with the loss of only one business day from Washington.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington later said that the President had telegraphed his regrets and added that no member of the Cabinet had been found who could get away from his office long enough to do so, as all said they were overwhelmed with work.

Telegram to Post-Dispatch. The information that Secretary Bryan would be unable to reach St. Louis in time to deliver the closing speech at the Peace Congress, came in a telegram received by the Post-Dispatch, Wednesday morning, from Secretary Bryan's private secretary in Sacramento.

The Peace Congress officials had counted on Bryan's address as a climax of the three-day gathering. They have been fortunate in getting most of the other distinguished speakers they have sought, including Andrew Carnegie, He and Mrs. Carnegie were scheduled to reach St. Louis at 5:25 p. m. Wednesday.

They will be the guests of Robert S. Brookings at his new home, near Washington University.

Carnegie will speak on "The Baseless Fear of War" at the opening session of the congress, in the Odeon, Thursday morning, and will preside at a symposium on "Disarmament" in the Odeon Thursday afternoon. He will be entertained at a dinner by Brookings Tuesday night, and Friday night he will preside over a young people's meeting in the Third Baptist Church. The Carnegies probably will remain until Saturday afternoon. They will be the chief guests of honor at a reception Friday afternoon at Shaw's Garden.

A St. Louis University student, John Leo Tierney, won first prize, $25, in the intercollegiate peace oratorical contest at Sheldon Memorial Tuesday night. He will represent Missouri in the Interstate peace oratorical contest, to be held at 4 p. m. Thursday in the Third Baptist Church, the other states represented being Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Texas. Frank R. Birkhead of William Jewell College, Liberty, won second prize, $20, in the State contest.

A meeting of the American School Peace League will be held Wednesday night at Soldan High School, Union and Kensington avenues, and the speakers will be Supt. Ben Blewett of the St. Louis schools, John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union; President Charles F. Thwing of Western Reserve University, and Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, secretary of the league.

2 KILLED IN PAPER MILL

Three Others Hurt by Explosive Hidden in Old Clothing.

CLINTON, Mo., April 30.—An explosive concealed among some old clothing that was being fed into a shredder at a paper mill here wrecked part of the plant, killing two men and injuring three others. The nature of the explosive is unknown. The men killed were Thomas Lynch and Harry Cawley.

One of the men was hurled into the shredding machine and the sharp knives cut his throat.

Quake Outside 5000-Mile Zone Recorded.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at Georgetown University early today. The main displacement was east and west. The disturbance appeared to be outside the 5000-mile zone from Washington. The record of the disturbance began at 6:51 a. m., and continued until after 8 o'clock, the intensity being moderate.

A Blessing to Victims of "Sore-Foot" Agony

The following is said to be the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two table-spoonsful of Calceide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful.

All soreness goes instantly, the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly, and aching feet. A twenty-five-cent box of Calceide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calceide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house.—ADV.

PEACE CONGRESS WOMEN ON EQUAL BASIS WITH MEN

Feminine Members Share Honors on Program With Leaders in Session Here.

Women will play a more important part in the fourth American Peace Congress that convenes in St. Louis Thursday, for a three-day session, than ever before in the history of the congress. It is estimated that more than one-third of the delegates in attendance at the session of the great peace movement will be women. Six women have been selected as speakers.

In the initial peace congress held in New York, in 1907, and at the succeeding one in Chicago, two years later, a special women's meeting was held on the program. In St. Louis at every session of the congress women figured only slightly.

At the Baltimore congress in 1911 for the first time they were placed on an equality with the men delegates and given representation on the official program. In St. Louis at every session of the congress except three, the delegates will listen to a woman address them.

Mrs. Philip N. Moore, chairman of the Committee of Women's Organizations and former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was instrumental in persuading the Executive Committee in charge of the congress to admit women to its sessions on the same basis as men. She requested that in the selection of speakers women be assigned places only on the score of merit. The committee acceded to her request.

To Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has been given the distinction of sharing with William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, and David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, the honor of addressing the last session of the congress in the Odeon Saturday night. Her general theme will be "The Outlook for Peace Throughout the World."

At the fourth general session of the congress Friday evening in the Odeon, at which Charles W. Fairbanks will preside, Miss Lucia Ames Mead, chairman of the National Council of Women, will speak on "The Immediate Issues." Miss Laura Drake Gill, president of the College for Women, Sewanee, Tenn., will speak Thursday night at the Odeon on "Some Racial Bearings of War." Book-er T. Washington and former Vice-President Fairbanks will address the same session.

Thursday afternoon, at the Sheldon Memorial Auditorium, Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, secretary of the American School Peace League, will discuss "The Progress of the American Movement Through Education." Miss Vida Hunt Francis, general secretary of the Association of Collegiate Alumni, will speak at this meeting.

A preliminary meeting to the congress of the American School Peace League will be held in Soldan High School Monday night, at which Mrs. Andrews' subject will be "The Organization of Work for International Peace in the Public Schools."

POLISH PRINCE IS MURDERED; RICH BARON IS ACCUSED

President of Automobile Club of Warsaw Found Dead in Park From Bullet Wounds.

WARSAW, Russian Poland, April 30.—An extraordinary sensation was caused here today by the arrest of Baron John Bisping, one of the wealthiest landowners in Lithuania, on the charge of murdering Prince Ladislas Drucki Lubeki, a relative by marriage, whose body was found in the park adjoining his residence at Terezin, near Warsaw.

Prince Ladislas was a well-known Polish nobleman and was president of the Automobile Club of Warsaw. He left his house April 22 with Baron Bisping for the railway station. When the Prince did not return a search was made and his body was found in the park, with his carriage and horses standing near by.

The arrest of Baron Bisping followed on his testimony at the inquest, which the police allege was contradictory, in regard to the last moments the two men spent together.

Baron Bisping married Princess Radzi-will, daughter of Count Andrew Zamiatycki and Princess Caroline de Boursou. Prince Ladislas was a grandson of the last Polish Minister of Finance.

COUSINS, BOTH 42, MEET FIRST TIME BY CHANCE

Women Who Look Enough Alike to Be Twins, Say Relatives, Get Acquainted.

Two women cousins, both 42 years old, who, relatives say, look enough alike to be twins, met for the first time Saturday, in St. Louis, by chance. One departed Tuesday night for her home in Moberly, Mo., and the other in a few days will visit her there.

Mrs. Charles Blake of Moberly came to St. Louis to visit her sister, Mrs. G. W. Miner, 901 South Tenth street. When she arrived, Mrs. Miner called Mrs. E. G. Stoney, 42, who lives with her.

"Why, Minerva, this is Cousin Mollie, who, you say, looks so much like me," exclaimed Mrs. Stoney, when she saw the visitor.

Mrs. Miner explained that the cousins were daughters of sisters, now dead, who became separated soon after the Civil War. The sisters married after they left Springfield, Mo., and reared families in different cities. Both of the cousins now have grown children.

POWERS REPORTED AVERSE TO FIGHT WITH MONTENEGRO

Austria Expected to Delay Demand for Scutari Evacuation Until Ambassadors Confer.

LONDON, April 30.—Despite alarming messages from Vienna and Berlin of probable conflict between Austria and Montenegro, optimism has not vanished from London diplomatic circles. A high authority said it was incorrect to assert that Austria has broken away from the concert of Europe. At the last meeting of the Ambassadors' conference her representative was still working with the representatives of the other Powers.

The situation, however, contains elements of great peril for Montenegro, who she gives every evidence of being determined to keep Scutari. Austria will not agree to wait much longer.

The British Foreign Office has no news that Austria was actually taking separate action against Montenegro. It is understood that Austria is awaiting the result of the ambassadorial conference Thursday and employing the interval in an endeavor to induce Italy to join her in military action.

The meetings of the Ambassadors have shown almost conclusively that a majority of the Powers are not prepared to adopt warlike measures against Montenegro. It is thus practically certain that within a few days, whether Italy consents or not, Austria will send an ultimatum to Cetinje, demanding the immediate evacuation of Scutari.

A Vienna dispatch says the Austrian Minister at Cetinje visited King Nicholas Monday night and demanded the immediate and unconditional evacuation of Scutari and that the King replied he would never do so.

Not another word of Esad Pasha's doings in Albania has come through. Ismail Kemal Bey, head of the provisional Albanian Government, has arrived in London to enlist British support. He and other Albanians do not regard Esad Pasha's coup very seriously.

Residents of Austrian Frontier Town Are Told to Get Out.

VIENNA, April 30.—It is announced from Cattaro, the Austrian frontier town near Cetinje, that the inhabitants have been informed by the military commander that they must leave the town within 48 hours. Cattaro is dominated by a formidable Montenegrin mountain fort, and is sure to be destroyed by the Montenegrin guns in the event of war.

PAPAL COUNTESS, ONCE LOCAL BELLE, IS PEACE DELEGATE

Countess Spottiswood Mackin of Paris Is Daughter of Former St. Louis Mayor.

Countess Spottiswood Mackin of Paris, formerly Miss Sallie Britton, a St. Louis belle of the '70s, daughter of Mayor James H. Britton, has returned to St. Louis as a delegate to the International Peace Congress, representing the Daughters of the American Revolution, and is staying at the Jefferson Hotel.

The Countess came from Paris to New York three months ago to visit relatives and from there went to Washington for the inauguration and remained two months.

During her stay she will visit St. Louis friends among them Mrs. P. J. Toomey of 4035 Moran street, who visited her in Paris two years ago.

She went to Paris in 1890, after the death of her husband, and has made that city her home since. She became a convert to the Catholic faith in 1896 and was received into the church by Cardinal Macchi. She was made a papal countess by Pope Leo.

She said Wednesday to a Post-Dispatch reporter that although suffragists generally have taken Joan of Arc as their model, French women had not taken up the movement. She never had heard the subject discussed in Paris except once, at a meeting of the Lyceum Club. She became interested in the movement through Mrs. Belmont in New York and was active in it until Cardinal Vannutelli issued a letter in opposition, when she dropped it.

"I am more of a Catholic than a suffragist," she said, "I am in sympathy with the movement, however, and think that it will win when a majority of the women request it."

Decorated by French President. The Countess recently was decorated by President Poincare of France with the insignia of Les Palmes Academiques, which ranks next to the Legion of Honor, in recognition of her charities. She has been invited to become a member of the Legion of Honor and of the Gens de Lettres. She is a member of the Academie of Rome and of the Geographical Society of New York. She was decorated by Pope Leo as a member of the Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice. When she returns to France she intends to start a movement to get asked July 4 or Washington's birthday for an entertainment for Americans who are stranded in Paris.

She takes pride in the fact that she is a newspaper woman. She represented La Revue de la Papauté et les Peuples at the coronation of Pope Pius X, and the coronation of King Edward VII of England and at his funeral, at the coronation of King Alfonso of Spain and at the Eucharistic Congress at Montreal.

The last visit of the Countess to St. Louis was during the World's Fair. She expressed herself as pleased with the growth the city has made since then.

GAZZOLO IS MAYOR FOR DAY, LIKES IT, MAY BE CANDIDATE

continued Andy, switching from the singular "I" to the plural "we," "well, sir, we'd try to make a record that would keep all the rest of the Mayors mighty busy trying to equal it."

"From what we've seen of the Mayor's office today, it does not seem to us to be a very hard job to hold down. All you've got to do is to sit still in the boat and steer it straight ahead."

"What did Jep have to say?" a reporter asked.

"Well, sir, he certainly handed out some conversation. That fellow could talk our arm off. That was the second time we had ever met the gentleman. We couldn't begin to tell you all he said to us, because anybody who ever heard Jep talk for an hour knows that he can get a lot of conversation out of his system in that length of time. And he certainly works his index finger overtime, too."

Just then the telephone bell rang, and Miss Pearl MacCoy, the assistant secretary, stepped in, lifted the receiver from the hook, and set it down within easy reach of the acting Mayor.

"We never had so much attention in our life," Andy remarked with a smile. "That goes with the dignity of this job, we suppose, but if we were Mayor we would cut out the dignity."

Andy's end of the telephone conversation was about as follows:

"This is he, sir. The pleasure is all mine. I assure you, Aw, quit yer kidding! Yes, we'll take it under advisement and see what we can do for you. Good day, sir, very glad you called up."

"We are not going to get any large 'cranium' from being Mayor one day," Andy remarked as he took up the thread of the conversation with the reporter.

"We are just going to be plain Andy Gazzolo, just as you see him in the Speaker's chair of the House of Delegates, or in his place of business on Morgan street."

"To look in the city hall tower struck four, and the 'chief functionary' put his hat on and got restful."

"It is about time for us to go," he said. "We've had one fine day of it—and, say, if anybody asks you about the Mayor's job, tell him for us that it's easy. If we have to serve in the absence of Mayor Kiel many more times we may decide the job is such a fine one that we may run for it ourselves in 1917."

Brief Trial Venue Change. CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 30.—S. U. G. Rhodes, a member of the West Virginia Legislature, charged with having accepted $15,000 to vote for Col. William Seymour Edwards, for United States Senator, obtained a change of venue, the county to be named later.

MERCHANT AND $100,000 WORTH OF GEMS VANISH

Maiden Lane Creditors, After Waiting a While, Decide He Won't Return.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Diamond dealers around Maiden Lane are comparing notes today on David Bloch, who has vanished, and, dealers charge, with gems of their valued conservatively at $100,000.

Until today they had kept their losses quiet in hope Bloch would return. They decided he would not return when his vaults and office were found empty and his house vacant of wife and two children.

Bloch had been active in the diamond district several years. He came from Europe, knew all about diamonds, could sell them, and papers of partnership in Bloch Bros., a big diamond house in Antwerp, won the confidence of the New York trade. Dealers trusted him with all the gems he chose to take on his mere memorandum. His sales ran into fortunes. Bloch stood so well with the trade that when the Antwerp house failed last year his credit here was not impaired.

SLEUTHS PASS INSPECTION
Frisco Criminals Can't Identify Grafters Among Detectives.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—It was with openly manifested resentment that 20 detectives lined up yesterday to be inspected by five convicts and three convicted members of the Italian bunch gang. The criminals were marched along the four scowling lines of police officers. Not one identification was made.

The 20 detectives comprised all members of the department who have been in service in the Latin quarter, with the exception of eight officials who are under suspension. The inspection was ordered by Chief of Police White at the request of the grand jury investigating alleged police grafting.

NG COST LATE 1912 HIGHEST N LAST 23 YEARS

Minimum Was Reached in 1896
and Increase on Yearly Total Has Been From $152 to $187.

Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 30.—During the part of 1912 the cost of living in United States was higher than at other times in the last 23 years. The cost of living statistics has just issued a report on retail prices from 1890
to 1913.

The lowest cost was reached in 1896
the geographical divisions and in the United States as a whole in 1896. From that date to 1913 the total increase in the cost of living per year for a workingman's family was:

North Atlantic States, $108; South Atlantic, $122; North Central, $137; South Central, $138; Western, $132.
The approximate cost of a year's food supply for an average workingman's family, at average prices of each year
and in 1912, was:

	1890	1895	1912
North Atlantic States	$219	$200	$436
South Atlantic States	274	265	417
North Central	290	276	463

WIDOW OF R. T. CRANE WEDS GIRLHOOD WOOER

Two Ceremonies in Paris Make Her Bride of Francis V. A.

PARIS, April 30.—Mrs. Emily Hutchinson Crane and Francis V. A. Junkin, both of Chicago, were married today at dissement, and later at the American

presence of a large gathering.
The bride was the widow of Richard

THREE BILLION FOR GOOD ROADS FROM U. S. IS NEW PLAN

Senator Bourne Proposes Scheme Whereby States Could Get Federal Aid.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An expenditure of $3,000,000,000 for good roads, $1,000,000,000 being for construction and $2,000,000,000 for maintenance, the largest amount to extend over a period of 50
years, was proposed today in a plan submitted to the Joint Congressional Committee on Federal aid in the construction of post roads by former Senator Bourne of Oregon.

The $3,000,000,000 construction fund,
according to Senator Bourne's plan, would be apportioned among the states on the basis of area, population, assessed valuation and road mileage.

The states would be required to deposit in the United States Treasury 50-year 4 per cent bonds for the amount due them. The Government would then loan the state the par value thereof for road construction, the Government raising its fund by the sale of 50-year
non-taxable 3 per cent bonds.
By crediting each state with the excess of the interest paid on the bond
and allowing 3 per cent on the amount compounded annually, a sinking fund would be established from which the Government would pay off the bonds at the end of 50 years and the state would be relieved of the payment of principal on its bonds.

RAMONA BORDEN'S LIFE THAT OF POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL

Millionaire's Daughter Says Lack of Real Home Caused Her to Run Away.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Ramona Borden—a "Poor Little Rich Girl" in real life—sat partially buried by the cushions
of a big plush chair in her mother's apartment at the Hotel Belmont, and discussed her hard lot as the only child
of a millionaire, and why she ran away.
It was a child-woman with very large eyes, a wide mouth and slender, almost underdeveloped body, that greeted the newspaper men alone. She spoke confidently, almost with the air of precocious womanhood, and yet about her whole aspect was the attitude of the child who feels restraint before strangers. She was dressed richly and in style, and evidently reflecting her untrammelled
life.

"You must excuse my mother," she began. "She is very tired and nervous
and I have told her that I had better talk to you instead of her, because I have caused all the trouble. I can best answer all questions and, anyway, I want to see the men who have been writing so much about me the past week. You have been very good, and I, well, I have been just myself, Ramona Borden."

To Stay With Mother.
"In the first place, I want to say I am going back to California with my mother
in two or three days, as soon as she is rested. It has been definitely decided that I am to be with her in the future.
She and my father have agreed on that point without seeing each other."

"I am very glad. I love both my father and my mother, but—but, I have been very unhappy recently, and I believe I will be happier with my mother. A mother can understand her daughter better than a father can, don't you think so?"

"Why did I want to run away? I know you'll ask me that question and I'll tell you before you ask. I wonder if you can understand if I tell you truly?"
The rich little girl, who is unhappy,
and knit her brows in an effort to frame
her phrases. People say I am rich, that my parents are rich. I guess that is true, but that doesn't mean that I can be happy. Daughters of rich people are not always happy."

"The trouble is I haven't had a home for many, many years. I have been sent from one school to another school and then to another one, but none was home.
What I have wanted is a lady who was a home—a home—and I have not had it."

Could Not Buy Happiness.
"My father and mother have tried to do what they could to make me happy, but they did not know how. They gave me money—lots of it—but that would not buy happiness. Twice before I ran away from schools they sent me to because they were not home. My money did not do me any good except to buy pretty clothes."

"When I lived with Mrs. White and her niece for a little time in Washington, I was comparatively happy, but then my father came and took me away
and sent me to this horrid boarding school.
When I first got there they gave me a nurse as a sort of companion and she was very nice. Then they took away that nurse and put another in charge of
me."

"She was terrible. She was a woman who used to handle the insurance. I think they called her a 'strong arm'.
Imagine a 'strong arm' as a companion for
me!"

"I just got desperate and wired my mother to come and get me. Then I wrote Mrs. White to come and take me away; at least, to see me."

Defends Mrs. White.
"There's just one thing more I want you to put in the papers. Mrs. White is a good, kind woman, and perfectly honorable. People have said unkind things about her because I got her into this running-away scrape. She did nothing but kindness, and she did it because I insisted she should."

Mrs. Borden's attorney says that Gall Borden has relinquished custody of his spirited and headstrong daughter to his wife for all time, and after two years of turbulent experience with the young lady, following his wife's legal separation from him, was glad to be relieved of further responsibility for the daughter's bringing up.
"You can state positively that there will be no reconciliation between Mr.
Borden and myself," was the definite quashing of a rumor that Mrs. Borden voiced at the Hotel Belmont early today. "Ramona and I will start for California tomorrow, and there will then be an end to all this unhappy notoriety."

McMANIGAL TO CHANGE APPEARANCE BY SURGERY

Hopes Removal of Facial Scar
Will Conceal His Identity
When He Is Released.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 30.—Ortie
E. McManigal, confessed dynamite
plans to have his appearance altered
by surgery when he is again a free
man. It is reported that he may be released any time, and McManigal hopes so to change his appearance that no one will know him as the man whose testimony sent the McNamara's and a score or more of other labor officials to prison.
Detectives say his release will be kept secret.

McManigal fell from a moving wagon
when he was a child and the wheels inflicted a wound on his head that left a scar on his forehead. Doctors have told McManigal that the scar can be removed.

factory agreement was reached between representatives of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union and the United States Glass Co., and a strike, involving upwards of 4000 men, was declared at an end.

Superfluous Hair Truths

DeMiracle

The Only Safe Hair Remover

Each application of an unknown depilatory is a dangerous experiment and likely to cause permanent disfigurement. The more fact that such preparations are short-lived should alone be sufficient warning to avoid their use. DeMiracle has stood the test of time, having been sold for over 11 years; therefore it is the only depilatory you can use without experimentation.

The Unoffensive Depilatory

If you use DeMiracle it will be impossible for any curious person to know that you have used a hair remover because DeMiracle evaporates immediately after accomplishing its work, therefore leaving no odor whatever. On the other hand, if you use any depilatory with a distinctive odor an offensive tell-tale smell will cling to your skin for hours.

WIFE GAVE HIM 25¢ A DAY FOR 29 YEARS; HE'S GONE

Wife of Chicago Policeman Cannot Understand Why Husband Has Disappeared.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Patrolman Gustave Williams, who has walked a beat in Chicago for 29 years, has been missing since Sunday night and the police fear that he has been drowned or murdered. The Chicago River will be dragged today in the expectation of finding his body. He called the Central Station at midnight Sunday and that was the last heard of him.

His wife said he was regular in his habits and that he always came home as soon as he was relieved from duty. "I was at the Dearborn street bridge at 11 o'clock Sunday night," said Mrs. Williams early today, "and he told me that he would be home in a few minutes and to have something hot for him. Every day he brought his money home and I gave him his quarter a day for expenses."

New York Hotel Raid.
NEW YORK, April 30.—One hundred diners in the Southern Hotel were turned onto the street and 600 other guests were notified to vacate their rooms in a raid by the police. The unrestricted dancing of the so-called modern dance steps and the finding of an alleged racing poolroom in the hotel were given among the reasons.

SENATOR MARTINE PICKS BRYAN FOR NEXT PRESIDENT

Jersey's 'Farmer Orator' Says Nothing Can Prevent His Election if He Runs.

If William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, is a candidate for the presidency at the next presidential election, nothing in the world can stop him from being elected, according to Senator James E. Martine of New Jersey, who is here as a member of the congressional delegation from Washington to attend the dedication of the Jefferson Memorial.

Martine is widely known as the "farmer orator." One of the planks in the Democratic platform upon which President Wilson was elected at Baltimore was that favoring a single term in the presidency and if the party sticks by that platform it naturally will prevent President Wilson from being re-elected, the New Jersey Senator pointed out.

"Bryan will be the logical candidate," he said. "People have come to know and so understand him better. People think that he has become more stable in his views, struck an equilibrium, as it were. The fact is, that Mr. Bryan is just as radical today as he was 20 years ago, but the people have grown up to him."

Senator Martine discussed a number of subjects with a Post-Dispatch reporter while seated at the breakfast table at the Planters Hotel Wednesday morning. He said that the fight on the tariff bill which is now being debated in the House of Representatives undoubtedly would keep the Senate in session all summer and probably there would not be a recess until next October. Great pressure, he said, brought to bear by the sugar interests of the South and the wool interests of the Northwest to prevent the cut in tariff on those articles and undoubtedly some of the Senators who are now in favor of the reductions will be brought over, but he thinks there will easily be a big enough Democratic majority to insure passage of the bill.

Personally the New Jersey Senator is strongly in favor of reduction all along the line. "Republicans talk about the tariff protecting the farmer," he said. "Why, I have been a farmer all my life and I know that it has only been a detriment to me, and I have heard hundreds of other farmers say the same. The idea of President Wilson going into New Jersey next Thursday and Friday to fight his old enemies, James Smith Jr. and James R. Nugent, machine politicians, who are attempting to defeat two of his pet measures, jury reform and constitutional convention, is directly in line with the spirit of the administration, he said.

"This is a new age," he said, "and President Wilson is doing new things. He will undoubtedly be criticised for this move of seemingly stepping out of his sphere to engage in a State political fight, but that criticism will be like water on a duck's back. I am only afraid that he is trying to do too much and that he will break down under the great physical strain that is under." Senator Martine voted in favor of the recent bill for an appropriation for new buildings, although he is strongly in favor of peace. "This age is not a millennium," he said, "and as long as other nations keep on strengthening their navies we will have to do the same, especially while we hang on to that d—d gold brick, the Philippines. I am in favor of giving them to Japan. And speaking of Japan, we are not going to have any war with her and people ought not to waste time thinking about it.

"Even if Secretary Bryan does seem to have failed in his mission to California, that anti-alien land question will be settled all right and there is not the least sign of excitement in Washington about it. The Japs are a valuable asset to California, just as the Italians are to New Jersey. They make the desert bloom, and California needs them."

ALIMONY AFTER WIFE DIES

Ohio Court Rules Husband Must Pay It to Estate.

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—The Ohio Supreme Court has decided that once a man is ordered to pay alimony he is to continue, even if his wife dies. The decision was given in the case of William G. Stoneman and Mary E. Stoneman, revived in the suit of Mary Shoup, her executrix. Divorce was granted to Mrs. Stoneman in September 1907. The alimony was fixed at $420 to be paid in installments within three years. Mrs. Stoneman died and the executrix sued for $100 still due. Stoneman contended that because his wife had died and had left no children, and the estate was solvent, he should not be held for the alimony.

Policy Holders

Instruct your beneficiary to invest the proceeds of your insurance in an interest-bearing savings account with the St. Louis Union Trust Co. Fourth and Locust. Otherwise the money you leave may be invested in a losing proposition. Often all insurance money is quickly lost. Avoid this by acting on the above suggestion.

KANSAS CATTLE KICKING

Steer Brander's Tongue Paralyzed, Milker Knocked Out.

ELIZABETH, Kan., April 30.—Kicked in the face by a maddened steer he was trying to brand, Wilbur Munson, who lives near here, is unable to talk because of a paralyzed tongue. The kick of the animal almost severed Munson's tongue, 10 stitches being required to stop the bleeding.

Homer Page, a neighbor of Munson was unconscious eight hours as a result of being kicked by a cow he was milking.

SIR WILFRID PEEK HERE FOR WEDDING PRESENTS COMING

Fiance of Miss Thornburgh Terms Customs About Plate "Distortions."

Sir Wilfrid Peek of England, who is to marry Miss Edwina Thornburgh of St. Louis next Wednesday, arrived in St. Louis Tuesday night. Among the first things he did was to deny that it was his family plate which was held up by the customs officers at New York.

"Ridiculous," said Sir Wilfrid to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Distortions—these published accounts, putting the value at $10,000 and that sort of thing. I should put it at a thousand. It wasn't family plate, indeed it wasn't. It was presents for Miss Edwina—just a few pieces, you know. Duty very high—4 per cent of the value. But everything has been clarified. The stuff's on the way through. It will be here."

Greeted With a Kiss. When he stepped from a train at 8:15 p. m., Sir Wilfrid greeted his fiancée with a kiss. Miss Thornburgh, accompanied only by her chauffeur, had driven to Union Station in her automobile.

"Sir Wilfrid is late and his supper is waiting," she smilingly said to newspaper men.

After his denial of the family plate story, Sir Wilfrid said: "I am very happy to be here. I have been in America before, you know, and I like it very fond of it."

In one respect Sir Wilfrid has changed his appearance since he was last in St. Louis. He has grown a small brown mustache.

Several persons in the Union Station crowd were sure of his identity when they noted that he wore black patent leather shoes with tan tops.

Sir Wilfrid came to St. Louis on the train which carried the United States congressional party that will attend the dedication of the Jefferson Monument.

On the train also were many delegates to the Peace Congress which opens here Thursday.

Society

ONE of the most notable weddings of the spring will be that of Miss Leah Van Riper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Van Riper of 6387 Waterman avenue, and Guy Oliver, which will be solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Z. B. T. Phillips and the music will be sung by the vested choir of the church.

The bride, who is considered one of the most beautiful girls in St. Louis society, will wear a robe of white satin, simply made. She will carry a bouquet of lilies of the valley and will wear a wedding veil of Carrimacross lace, which has been in the family for several generations.

The decorations at the church will be in purple lilacs and pink carnations. The bridesmaids will be gowned alike in frocks of shadow lace with girles of print. They will wear white lace hats with pink satin covers, and their bouquets will be of pink snapdragons.

The bridesmaids will be Misses Judith Oliver, Frances Reid Jones, Frances Filley, Fanny Knight and Helen Wood. There will be no maid of honor.

Mr. Oliver will have Hildreth Packham for his best man. The ushers will be Daniel C. McChesney, John Love, John C. Van Riper Jr., George Frather Van Riper and Brooks Knight.

A large reception at the house will follow. There the decorations will be in fruit blossoms, lilacs and wild flowers. The table, which will be laid for the bride party and will be decorated with pink snapdragons.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Oliver of 4738 Westminster place and is a member of the Country Club.

When they return from their wedding trip Mr. Oliver and his bride will make their home for a while with Mr. and Mrs. Van Riper.

Miss Marguerite Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Stevenson of 4623 Westminster place, and Lieut. Gilbert Penfield Strelinger of the Twenty-eighth Infantry, U. S. A., will be married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride.

It will be a quiet wedding, with only the nearest relatives and friends present, and will be followed by a small reception. The Rev. J. W. Lee will officiate.

It was to have been a large military wedding, but Lieut. Strelinger's regiment is down on the Mexican border, and the officers who were to have been his groomsmen could not get leave of absence, so his brother, Ralph Strelinger of Detroit, and the bride's sister, Mrs. A. Burt Champion, will be the only attendants.

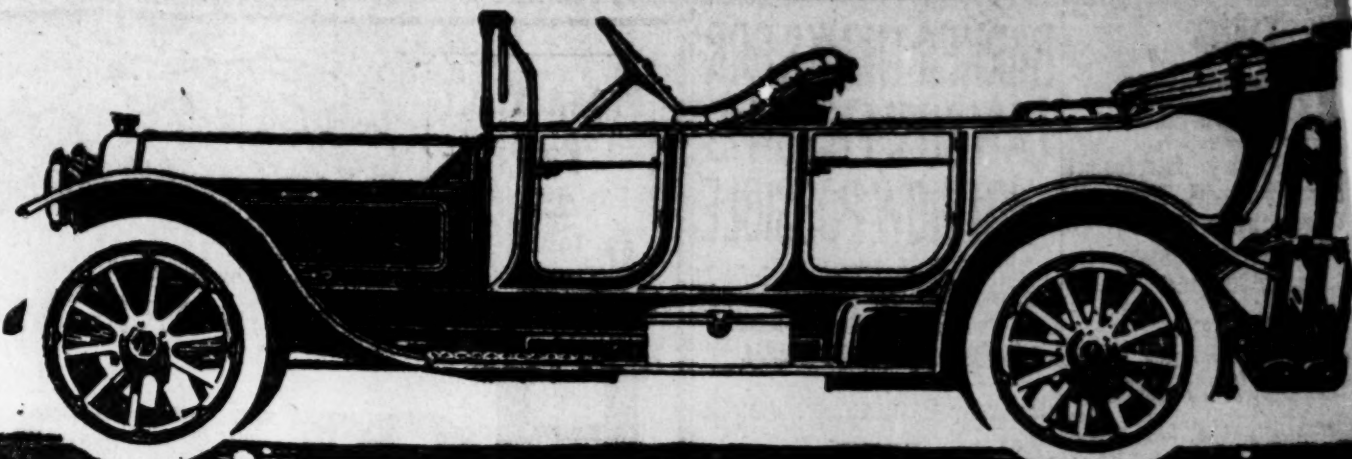

The bride will wear a gown of white tulle with a train and a cap of old point lace and her bouquet will be of white sweet peas and valley lilies.

Mrs. Champion's gown will be of pale green chambray trimmed with white lace and chiffon, and she will carry lavender sweet peas.

In the drawing room, where the ceremony will take place, a bower of greenery and small pink and white roses will be made.

The bride will wear a gown of green uniform. After a brief bridal tour he will take his bride to Galveston, Tex., until his regiment returns to its regular station at Fort Snelling, Minn.

PEERLESS NEW MODELS
Again First in Beauty and Safety

THROUGH the development of details these Peerless New Models reach the highest point yet attained in motor car construction.

Absolute confidence in the Peerless is evinced by the large booking of orders even before the first of the new models was ready for demonstration.

The outward beauty of the Peerless New Models is an expression of their inward firmness of research and critical appreciation maturing into the perfect car.

The inside quality of a piece of steel—as well as its size—determines its strength, and you safety. Heat treatment, a vital science developed in the Peerless Plant to a point that exceeds the resources of the universities, is the controlling factor that fixes for good the durability of a gear, the strength of a shaft, the resiliency of a spring, the life of a bearing.

Three Sizes

To meet the power ranges proper to a car of the Peerless type we offer three six-cylinder models: "38-St.," "48-St." and "60-St."

Long Stroke Motor

The cylinder dimensions of the "38-St.," "48-St." and "60-St." are respectively 4x5-1/4, 4-1/2x5-1/4 and 5x7 inches. The long stroke Peerless motor is known for its silent, vibrationless operation and its unusual power, flexibility and smooth action at low speeds.

Peerless Bodies

Body lines are unequalled in beauty. No obstruction of mechanism is evident anywhere. Chute seats in the tonneau fold out of sight. Extra tires are carried in the rear.

Electric Starting and Easy Steering

The Peerless was the first high quality motor car to adopt the electric starter with separate electric motor. Pressure on a pedal starts the engine. The steering column is irremovable. It is almost as easy to drive a Peerless Car over rough roads as over smooth roads.

Heat Treated Steels

Rigid selection and inspection of steels and specific modes of heat treatment insure the highest development of physical qualities required in each vital part. Wearproof gears, with tough cases and glass-hard tooth surfaces are produced with scientific accuracy.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 30.—That
the Orr law repealing the Oliver rating
act cannot be suspended by submission
to the people through the referendum
is the opinion of Attorney-General Barker, furnished to Edwards Whitaker,
president of the Boatmen's Bank today.
This opinion was furnished upon questions asked by Whitaker. Whitaker
also asked whether an arrested case upon the Orr anti-trust law could be brought in the Supreme Court. The Attorney-General replied that he thought not.
The Orr bill repealing the Oliver act carried an emergency clause, and went into effect when signed by the Governor. Barker holds an act cannot be suspended when once in force and effective until June 22.
The Attorney-General also holds that the repeal of the Oliver rating law placed the companies again under the provisions of the old anti-trust laws.
It has been contended since his suit
was filed that the anti-trust laws are not applicable to insurance companies and that they are without statutory regulation and will be until the Orr antitrust law becomes effective.

Insurance Lawyer Asks for Copy of Barker's Proceedings.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 30.—
Judge Thomas Bates of Chicago, general counsel for the fire insurance companies, asked Clerk Allen of the Missouri Supreme Court today to send him
certified copies of the quo warranto
proceedings filed by Attorney-General
Barker against 12 foreign companies.
This was mailed to Judge Bates.
The companies must make their return to the State's proceedings by May 3,
at which time the Supreme Court will appoint a commissioner to take testimony. Accompanied by the commissioner, Barker will go East and begin taking testimony.

At the Insurance Department this morning it was stated that the Attorney-General has included in the list of companies assailed about 40 not licensed in Missouri. It will be necessary for him to dismiss as to these concerns.
L. J. Frank, who represents nine large foreign companies in this city, says he will quit writing insurance at 12 o'clock
tonight unless he gets orders to the contrary. Other local agents will do likewise.

At the Insurance Department it was stated that 25 companies have indicated
their intention of continuing business.

NAPHTHA TANK EXPLOSION FATAL TO OPERATOR

Boy Scout Rescues Unconscious Man and Woman After Giving Fire Alarm.

Fritz Freeze, 23 years old, an operator of the naphtha plant of the St. Louis Dyeing and Cleaning Co., 519 North Taylor avenue, died Tuesday night at the city hall from injuries received in the afternoon when a tank of naphtha exploded and demolished the small brick building in which he was working in the rear of the dyeing plant. He lived at 217 Olive street.

The explosion shattered plate glass windows in stores adjoining the plant on the Taylor avenue side and cracked several thick cement window sills.
A fire alarm was turned in by Harold Webb, 14 years old, who then happened to aid in rescue work. Webb, who is a member of the Boy Scouts, Troop
No. 2, of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, assisted in carrying out Freeze
and a woman who also had been rendered unconscious. The scout is a son of
G. W. Webb, 435 West Belle place.

Estimate Put on Collection for Purpose of Getting Approximately $25,000,000 Insurance.
NEW YORK, April 30.—The official valuation of the art collections of J. P.
Morgan in the Metropolitan Museum
and in the Morgan library is $50,000,000.
New York's Fire Insurance Exchange
has begun a survey of the museum, the first made in several years, at the request of the museum trustees as a basis
for the readjustment of the insurance rates covering the contents of the building. The necessity for a readjustment was declared to be the completion of the project, already well under way, of insuring the Morgan collection.
No statement, no intimation of J. P.
Morgan's intentions with regard to the treasures gathered by his father has yet been made public. No communication, it is said officially, has come to the trustees of the Metropolitan from Morgan.

Supt. Blewett and the board would be wise to give a sympathetic hearing to the cause of the teachers. If a conference without prejudice to reached. Undoubtedly there are troubles on both sides, but a discussion might bring out a happy solution of them. It would conduce at least to a better spirit.

TO PRESERVE CAHOKIA MOUND.

On Thursday of this week there will be held before the Appropriations Committee of the Illinois Legislature at Springfield a hearing on the bill which proposes to purchase with State funds
and place under the care of the State Park Commission the Cahokia Mound.

This excellent project deserves the support of the Cahokia Mound was the central chief structure of that great group of mounds
from which St. Louis is known as the Mound City.
It is in the American Bottom six miles northeast of the Eads Bridge. Standing 102 feet high, and covering 16 acres, it is the largest earthwork remaining anywhere from the mound building age.
It is in an excellent state of preservation, and
with proper care, will remain there forever, one of the real wonders of America. It is the duty of Illinois to acquire and take care of it, and St. Louis, which has the great mound at its door,
sincerely hopes that the bill will pass.

When the Turkish Empire was relatively stronger than Austria is now, it was repeatedly driven back by the Montenegrins. Have the conditions of war changed so much that they will be unable to give as good an account of themselves against Christian Austrians as against Mohammedan Turks?

THE JAP BOGY.

Let us be calm, remembering we still have a
"vidence, a Supreme Court and a Federal Government no matter how Hiram Johnson and California may try to muss us up with the Jap.

Our part we cannot regard the gentle Jap blight to civilization and a blot on the landscape, even when he holds an acre or two of ground in the United States. We permit the emancipated Son of Ham 40 acres and a mule, and he is no such farmer as the Jap is. The Californiaans admit that the Jap is an expert horticulturist and gardener, and boast of him as the best of servants. The fact that he is studying theology, pharmacy or higher mathematics while in menial service does not interfere with the precision with which he irons the crease in your trousers or lays out your evening clothes. As a sheer example of neatness and cleanliness he is worth while in any community. He is a model of industry, correct habits and economy—surely not a bad one in these high-cost-of-living times.

Certainly there can be no fear that the Jap will assimilate us. Ten or fifteen millions of negroes have not begun to do that. Is there a fear that the Japs will marry some of us? A few of them have, but they did not have to own our lands in order to do so. If a few intercolor marriages were considered as blighting to civilization and a menace to the future of the whole Western world, then we should have discovered a cause bell with Senegambia in the affairs of Jack Johnson.

On the other hand, we need not worry over Japan. It is rather fussy and it has at the worst we could do would be to lay hands on the Philippines; and think that if we could induce it to the same Philippines on any terms conceding well.

Let us find any communion may be made that the continental Europe gives much for protest than the proposed

THE INSURANCE MUDDLE.

The refusal of 14 insurance companies, some of them the strongest in the State, to withdraw in accordance with the resolution of the Western Insurance Combine puts a better face on the insurance situation. It shows that sense and prudence prevail in the councils of some insurance companies. All do not stand together on the hasty plan to coerce the State by threatening or actually inflicting its business interests.

Probably the intention of these companies not to withdraw was strengthened by the order of the Supreme Court restraining all companies from withdrawing under the combine resolution until the injunction suit brought by the Attorney-General is decided. The hearing before the Supreme Court should have a good effect. Undoubtedly it will bring to light all the phases of the situation and the bearing of the Orr anti-trust law on the practical methods of the insurance business. The conclusions of the court may offer a working basis
for insurance companies without danger of unusual conditions or punishments.

It must be admitted that the Orr anti-trust law is drastic. It is sweeping in its provisions and gives ground for fear of prosecutions for unintentional offenses and for resort to methods necessary to the efficient transaction of insurance business.

Attorney-General Barker made a mistake in hastily threatening the insurance men with legal prosecutions before the law went into effect—before they could violate it.

The insurance men made a mistake in hastily resolving to withdraw from the State before consultation with the authorities and before they knew they would be hurt. Their action savored of insolent menace to the business interests of the State, which the State authorities could not ignore.

The business interests of the State have been threatened with irreparable disaster. They are between the upper and nether millstones. These interests are paramount and should be protected from disaster. It is for the protection of these interests that the laws governing insurance transactions were passed and that the insurance companies operate in the State under State sanction and supervision.

Good temper, good sense and due consideration
for the interests involved should govern both sides to the controversy. The sole object of the State is to protect the insured from oppressive combine and excessive rates. The object of the insurance companies should be the assurance of the privilege of doing business on a secure basis
of legitimate methods and fair profits.

As the Post-Dispatch has said we do not want to drive the insurance companies out of the State,
but we insist that they refrain from oppression.

An investigation by Congress and by the State authorities of the insurance business with a view to determining whether there is an oppressive combine and what laws or regulations are necessary to the conduct of the business for the benefit of both the companies and the insured would be beneficial. The best thing to reach is an understanding under the present law.
Then we should take steps to find an equitable legal basis which will put an end to the continual wrangling between the State and the insurance companies.

The amended anti-alien bill indicates better
second-thought on the part of California. Secretary Bryan has made progress.

THE PLACE AND THE MAN.

The assurance that all differences are settled and all factions harmonized by the election of Tom Randolph to the presidency of the National Bank of Commerce is gratifying to St. Louisans.
Interest in the success of a great banking institution like the National Bank of Commerce is not confined to its directors and stockholders. It is shared by the community and the territory
in which it operates and in which its influence
for good or ill is powerful.

We congratulate the bank directors on finding the right man in Mr. Randolph and Mr. Randolph on getting the right opportunity for his capacity and energy.

Japanese are coming pretty strong on "Asia for the Asiatics," but that's different.

The distinguished list of guests at the Jefferson memorial dedication includes no personage more interesting than T. J. C. Fagg of Louisiana, Mo., who once beheld the living Thomas Jefferson.
He was born on a Virginia plantation near Monticello and relates that the father of American democracy drove with a nephew to the Fagg place
one day and remained for dinner. As Jefferson died July 4, 1826, the Judge, born in 1822, could hardly have been more than four years old at the time. If he retains any vivid impressions of the visit, it must be because his memory of it was kept alive by the reminders of his elders later.

But even one who was as so tender an age when he looked on Jefferson that he did not appreciate the nature of the high privilege is of singular distinction today. At the London breakfasts for which Samuel Rogers, the poet, who lived to be 92, became famous, one of the most fascinating narratives was of his impressions of the time of Dr. Johnson. He never saw the great man, but as an admiring though timid youngster had once gone to the Johnson lodgings, knocking on the door, ringed until he heard the shuffling steps of the old author within and fled in a moment of panic, to regret ever afterward that he had not awaited the door's opening.

The man whose verse-making had covered so much achievement in English literature that he had heard the footsteps of Dr. Johnson and lived to know Dickens, Tennyson and Thackeray at the height of their careers was the object of annual consideration on the part of London writers 60 years ago. And the man who not only saw Thomas Jefferson, but heard the sound of his voice in conversation and undoubtedly felt the touch of his hand is an object of marked consideration

on the part of those assembled for the dedication.
St. Louis salutes him. His life has been prolonged to be a witness of a revitalized and rejuvenated Jeffersonian Democracy.

To be sure, it is said that Judge Fagg, imbibing
his politics from the very fountainhead of Monticello, has been a stalwart Republican most of his life. But there have been genuine Jeffersonian Republicans as well as Democrats.

Out of 35 divorces granted in St. Louis Monday, 27 were obtained by women plaintiffs. Yet the ladies are frequently heard to complain nowadays
of unfair treatment by the law.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Sunday Trade Helps Small Merchants.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to ask Councilman Protzman if it isn't a fact that dry goods merchants who employ help get him to pass this bill, prohibiting the sale of dry goods, shoes, etc., on Sunday, and how many who run small stores, employ no help had any say in the matter? I run a small dry goods store and Sunday morning from 8 to 11 are my busiest hours. I employ no help whatsoever.
Why shouldn't I be allowed to work if I want to?
As long as I am not forcing anybody else to work? The large stores get all the trade during the week, and they can't bear to see the small merchants make a few dollars on Sunday morning.
Of course I guess it doesn't pay them to open up on Sunday morning, for if it did they wouldn't be making such a "holier."

I am sure Councilman Protzman doesn't realize how his bill hurts the small merchant, who is struggling hard, trying to make an honest living.
He never gave the other side a thought, just went ahead and did what a few big fellows told him to do, regardless of where the blow fell and how bad it hurt some of the most worthy and law-abiding citizens.

Deserted Mothers Need Help.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In a letter to the Post-Dispatch of the 27th Inst. I am glad to see there is one man who has sympathy for the poor mother and deserted children. Why should those poor innocent children, through no fault of their own, be deprived of the pension of the orphan? Are they not in the same sense orphans, where their mother, to support and educate them, has to leave them day after day to take care of themselves? Is she not to be pitied when, after a day of hard labor she has to wash and mend and look after their needs,
and all because the husband and father wants to be free? If some of our law-making men were like Henry Nell, there might be no deserted wives or children to be writing about. If there was a law to punish the deserting husband and father
there would be less misery in our great St. Louis.
God bless Henry Nell; long may he prosper in the prayer of a

DESERTED MOTHER AND FOUR CHILDREN.

Art Museum Restrictions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Some of this talk about the Art Museum being too far out of the way is bosh. I feel satisfied that if it was placed, say, right at a car terminal
there would still be many people, especially amongst the poorer class, that would not visit it the second time. We are not all artists, nor do we all look at a thing from the same angle.
My observation leads me to believe that there is too much pomp, red tape or "bull" attached
to the museum, such as walking with the hat off, not talking above a whisper. This makes some people feel restricted, and to walk around for an hour or so on tip toe is like so much work.
I am not criticizing the fact, but I do know that timid people hold back on account of exclusiveness, myself will not go where I don't feel welcome; where I can not breathe natural or remark where I can not act natural. We are not all born actors. I am just an original individual; do not like to ape others and am too sensitive to infringe
on some imaginary rule. If the former Schwelck-hardt's cottage now stood in place of the museum,
there would be no complaint about the long walk,
some people would walk twice that distance for the pleasure they like with less complaint. Let those that are continually agitating car tracks in the park take notice.

Send the Jingles to the Front.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see a member of Congress has made a "jingo" speech favoring war with Japan. I claim that any man advocating war should preface his remarks by announcing that he is going to the front, even if he has to go in the ranks, should war be declared. It may be said that we could not spare such men from the Congressional duties. The writer many years ago argued with a fellow countryman (a member of the City Council) against the removal of an efficient official on account of politics, and the simple but logical reply to a lengthy argument was: "Shure, what 'ud we do if he died?" Nuf sed.

Keegan Gaelic Society.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Our move into our present fine quarters in the Central Library building, together with the notable given us by the Post-Dispatch and other newspapers, has aided us materially in increasing our membership. In fact, it may be stated that all our new members have assured us that the letters about the society which they read from time to time in the columns of the press brought the matter to their attention and induced them
to become members.

All our new members are progressing nicely in the study of the Gaelic languages. It is useless to deny that the study is not easy, but its difficulties are readily surmountable by intelligent students under the tutelage of expert teachers.
Our beginner classes are under the charge of two of the best Gaelic teachers in the west, and I am happy to be able to add that all of our new pupils, without a single exception, are manifesting intelligence of a high order. Hence, progress is very satisfactory and the society is moving along smoothly and steadily to the goal of success.

For the benefit of such of your readers as have not seen our notices, allow me to say that the Keegan Gaelic Society meets every Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock on the second floor of the Central Library building at Thirteenth and Olive streets; that membership is entirely free of any pecuniary charge, and that any person of good moral character is eligible.

Offices for Women.

From the Pittsburgh Post.

With one woman holding four offices in Colorado City the men are beginning to wonder what chance they will have when a few more of the fair sex enter the contest. It will make a difference, however, when four women want one office.

"FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE BE REASONABLE."

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

MAY.

Wake me early, mother darling,
For I'm a suffragette.
And emancipated woman
Is a very fancy pet.
We have a demonstration
Along that line today.
And I'm to be Queen of the May, mother,
I'm to be Queen of the May.

The old-time demonstration
Is desolate and dead,
And votes for women, mother,
Will burgeon in its stead.
We'll dance around the May-pole
In a new and better way.
And there will be something doing,
My motherkins, today.

A fig for flowers blooming
And other vernal sights!
What women want is suffrage
And all their other rights.
Tut and emulate the Sioux,
Were all a lot of dubs;
They didn't have ambition
And the proper kind of dubs.

Their heads were just a loafing place
For furbelows and hair,
And they never had a single thought
Of getting anywhere.
They only served for folly,
And they only thought of play;
You'll catch the new idea
When I am crowned today.

At any rate, the tariff bill
Will hold the center of the stage,
And in that epoch-making bill
Great adversaries will engage.
The smoke arising from the fray
Will fill a lot of us with dread,
And timid men will feel their way
Discreetly underneath the bed.

The President, his dander up, will batter privilege about, and the nabob,
In his bitter cup, will quite forget about his gout. The air will fill with flying wool, with sugar cane and other things,
and the swift Potomac will be full of drift
and dynamited rings, the high protectionists will whine their gloomy forecasts of collapse, and the income tax will come in time for stopping Democratic gaps.

The first 30 days of May will be under the influence of Taurus the Bull, the second sign of the zodiac. People born under this sign are not easily excited,
and do not think there will be any war
with Japan. They make excellent neighbors, and keep their chickens in their own gardens. They are very even tempered, and almost always stay married.
Taurus babies bellow a good deal, but they are resourceful and brave, and can usually take care of themselves while their mothers are at the club meeting.

The last 10 days of May will be under the influence of Gemini the Twins. Persons born under this sign are very keen-witted, and understand currency revisions. Gemini men love barnyard and always give their wives the last word. They are very thrifty, and will pay a big income tax. They are fair-minded, and endorse the President's sugar schedule.

And then sweet June will come to cast
its spell of sweet endeavor,
And love, true love, will vow to last Forever and forever.

EIFFEL TOWER THERMOMETER.

Dr. Leonard K. Hirschberg in the Outlook.

Everybody knows about the famous Eiffel tower of Paris. It has now been found that this modern tower of Babel
is useful not only as a great wireless station, but for many other purposes.
Dr. Charles F. Guillaume has stretched a wire of invar—a material not influenced or changed by the temperature—from the second platform, which is 120 yards above, to the earth, where it is fastened. The upper and the fastened a screw with a ball-and-socket joint.
This again rests upon a knife-edge from the girders of the platform. At the far end is a weight on a lever, and nearer the point of suspension a plate of lead, which dips in oil. Furthermore, there is a pencil on the lever which writes upon a revolving drum. This can be moved about and different scales or markings put upon it for registering
the temperature, winds and barometric pressure.

Thus the Eiffel tower is not only a Gargantuan thermometer, but also a wind register and a barometer as well.
The tower really behaves more delicately than the ordinary small thermometers. In fact, it shows all the minor variations of temperature. Compared with the official temperatures recorded only a few hundred yards distant by the government weather bureau
it has been found that the Eiffel tower is much more accurate for the closer variations.

AS FATAL AS LORIMERITIS.

From the New York Tribune.

The members of the New York State Senate who voted to vindicate Stilwell seem to have overlooked the fate of the members of the United States Senate who voted to vindicate Lorimer. Albany is a very self-centered capital and little attention is paid there to the storm
signals which are flying in other parts of the Union. Many of the Stilwellites might have realized the peril of yielding to their emotional impulses if some one had had the foresight to read a list of the fatalities in the Lorimer case.
Lorimer also was "vindicated" on his first trial. Forty-six Senators co-operated on March 1, 1911, to whitewash him.
Where are those forty-six now?

Butte vs. New York City.

From the Anaconda Standard.

No one leaving Butte to go to New York to have an all-night orgy in a cafe. You may sit in a cafe here and eat and be merry till the rooster crows or until the owl cars quit running, or until the day shift goes to work, every night in the year. But in proxy old New York you are, required to pay the waiter and get out of the house
promptly at or before one o'clock.

One Kentucky Woman's Club.

From the Dover (Ky.) News.

Last Thursday a chicken hawk swooped down into the chicken yard at the home of Sam N. Frow. It was attacked by a game old hen that put up such a fight and the hawk was kept so busy defending itself that it failed to notice the approach of Mrs. Frow, who killed it with a club.

with a chew in my mouth. I made sev-

as candy, chewing gum, etc., but all of no avail. Five years ago I discon-

I quit chewing and one year later

PETTE SAN sat in her bower weaving plum blossoms for her hair and dreaming of love that would come to her some day. Delicate and fair as the flowers was she; light as a thistle-down, gay as a butterfly, lovely and tender and fragrant as lilies, fashioned for love, and of sweet childish graces.

ing her? She snatched the document, tore it in shreds and put her tiny sandaled foot upon it. Her father seized a whip and handed it to Toko who would have given the rebellious girl a beating had not Frank Grant, seeing the situation through the street door, rushed in, knocked down the honorable father and his cocoa-colored friend and applied the whip plentifully to them. In the shadow of her protector, Pette San gained the door, gratefully accepted Grant's invitation to come with him, and they both passed up the street, leaving the disgruntled heap of Japanese to untangle itself on the floor, rub its nether bones and vow direful vengeance.

What to do with this fluttering, smiling creature who would flirt shyly over her fan at him? Frank Grant pondered and fidgeted in his room, then decided to consult his fiancée. Alice was delighted at Frank's new purchase and decided to take Pette San as her maid.

Pette San's apprenticeship grew very hard because of the ache in her heart. Frank naturally devoted himself to Alice and Pette San was forgotten, or treated as a pretty toy. The little Japanese made every effort to hold his attention, but in vain, and one day, wild with jealousy, she resolved to kill Alice, secreting a dagger in her sleeve and slipping out into the garden. Frank and Alice, strolling arm in arm, do not hear the soft-footed figure with the dagger creeping behind them, nor do they see them. Forgetting her own troubles in the wish to save Frank's life, she rushes forward and as Toko's knife comes plunging down, the blade buries itself in her soft body. The frustrated Toko is hurried off under arrest, and Frank and Alice weep over the limp and dying little maid.

Medicates the Air You and Gives Quick Results in Catarrhal Troubles.

It is wise in time and use Hyomel
the first warning of catarrhal troubles.

Do not let the disease extend along
the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes, and then downward until the lungs are reached and you are in danger of consumption.

Hyomel will relieve all curable stages of catarrh. It is invariably successful in this common yet dangerous disease that it always sold on money back if not satisfied plan.

There is no other treatment for catarrh that is like Hyomel or just good. None can take its place, none give such quick and sure relief
and at so little cost. Its medication is breathed through a pocket inhaler
that comes with every outfit, thus reaching the most remote cells of the air passages, killing the catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

Begin the use of Hyomel today
and you will soon find that the offensive breath, the droppings into the throat, the discharge from the nose, sniffling and all other symptoms of catarrh are overcome. The complete outfit costs but $1.00. Ex-

Elmer Jones, 18 years old, was arrested Tuesday night at his home, 1113 Glasgow avenue, on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of Boggs's saloon, 4301 Laclede avenue, Monday night.
He denies the charge and told the police
he was working at the time the robbery occurred.

Joseph Raggio, bartender at the saloon, and Thomas Rodgers, a customer, who were looked in the icebox, told
two men, looked at Jones in the Dayton Street Police Station Wednesday and told the police he was one of those who shoved them into the refrigerator.

Jones is out on a parole from a sentence of two years for robbery. He was paroled by Judge Kinsey because of his youth.

Z-Z-Z-Zing! Look Out
For Typhoid and Malaria.

Remarkable Antidote That Makes Your Blood Withstand the Germs That Cause Epidemics.

Mosquitoes, Flies, Stagnant Water and Slimy Holes Imperil
Thousands of Precious Lives.

A host of people in this section have become inoculated with the poisonous germs of malaria. In other sections they no longer fear epidemics of malaria, typhoid and other germ diseases.
They have found a perfect antidote in
S. S. S., the most wonderful blood purifier and health restorer ever discovered.
Thousands of people do not realize
why they are sick, gloomy, despondent and scarcely able to get around. It is the poison in the blood from mosquito bites, from impure drinking water, from the miasma in the air, the foul, reeking
pollutions of the soil from overflowed
land, from rotting weeds and the decay
that makes the air you breathe a veritable death trap.

S. S. S. a Marvel in the Blood.

No matter what the cause of your lastitude, skin eruptions, glandular swell-ings, as exhibited in certain malarial
districts, yellow eyeballs, pale, anemic
complexion and other depressing symptoms, S. S. S. goes into your blood, takes possession of the nutritive function and begins the work of restoration right away. The reason for this is the fact that S. S. S. contains one most remarkable ingredient, the purpose of which is to stimulate each cellular part of the body to select from the blood
the nutriment it requires to renew its life, to throw off disease and thus return to the condition of perfect health.
S. S. S. as Necessary as Your Food.
The wonderful results from the use of
S. S. S. are a scientific discovery.
The medicinal value of the components

of this remarkable medicine are relatively just as necessary to well-balanced health as the nutritive properties of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of the food we eat to sustain
life.

And the constant influence of S. S. S. in dominating this cellular activity, of forcing out the diseased atoms and replacing them with rich nutrition, brings about a restoration as completely and as quickly as it is gratifying and conspicuous.

S. S. S. Makes You Feel Fine.

After you have used S. S. S. for a few days the heavy, tired sensation in limbs and muscles is overcome, the droopy, languid feeling gives way to a buoyancy of health, the skin begins
to pink with the hue of vigorous blood;
the eyes brighten, skin eruptions dry
up and all internal tenderness, soreness, swellings and other symptoms of malaria disappear.

You can get S. S. S. at almost any drug store in the United States, even in the most remote districts, as this wonderful remedy is considered a par-acea by experienced people throughout the malarial regions. To cure malaria is but a question of using S. S. S. It is certainly a marvel. And if there are peculiar phases of your trouble or an other blood disorder, write to the Medical Department of The Swift Specific Co., 120 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
Their specialists will advise you what to do, and there will be no charge for this useful and invaluable service.

Approaching
Baldness
May Be Checked
by Using Herpi-
cide

The above expression is one which is used frequently in connection with hair preparations. Just exactly what is meant by it in each instance is a question.
Baldness is not a disease and hence does not require of a cure. It is a result, usually to be traced to the glandular system and if the condition has become chronic, that is, if there is complete loss of the hair follicles, a "cure" is absolutely impossible.

Approaching baldness, seen in falling hair, may always be checked and if the hair follicles are not atrophied the hair
may be induced again to grow.

This is accomplished by regular applications of Newcomb's Herpicide, which acts on the hair and stimulates the glandular system. Checking the accumulations of sebum on the scalp removes the most common cause of beautiful hair.

Herpicide, Newcomb's Herpicide, which
acts on the hair and stimulates the glandular system, is the best remedy for dormant hair follicles. It is the only Herpicide which removes the sebum
from the scalp and the hair grows again. It is the only Herpicide in the market which is guaranteed to bring about a permanent cure.

For those who obtain a permanent cure, Newcomb's Herpicide
is the only remedy for baldness.

"Y ES," said St. Peter, "Mickley was my dearest friend, and I shall never cease to mourn his death. It was a terrible blow from which I shall never recover."
"Why—I thought you married his widow!" said Jis son.
"Why—er—ahem!—why, I did."

Then He Followed Suit

HE shade boldly strode through the portal and addressed Peter.
"I," he said, "am a vaudeville singer. I made an international reputation as a singer of popular songs. On earth I was some guy. I presume my accommodations here will be in keeping with my reputation."
"Certainly," agreed St. Peter, "have you in my book under the title 'He Walked Right In and Turned Around and Walked Right Out again.'"

Hopeful.
"BOBBY," said Mr. Tadley to his young son, angrily, "my father always whipped me when I behaved as badly as you are doing."
"Well," answered Bobby, thoughtfully, "I hope I'll never have to tell my little boy that."

THE JARR FAMILY

By Roy L. McCardell

The dear Jarr and Rangle children add to the occasion.

"THE children got lonesome in the front room," explained Mrs. Jarr as she and Mrs. Rangle returned to the dining room where the Rangle-Jarr auction bridge game was, or had been, in progress to the point of dealing out the cards to Mrs. Jarr, 13 to 10 and 11 to Mr. Jarr respectively. "Yes, the it to see their papering cards," remarked dared say nothing, as the ladies arranged four more chairs at the table for the children to observe the game of their elders—if ever it got under way.

"Yes," Mrs. Rangle continued, "our little J. J. and John-NEE! Don't touch the cards! (Johnny wasn't touching the cards, but Willie Jarr was.) "Our Johnny," Mrs. Rangle again repeated when she could be heard, as the shrieks of Master Jarr subsided after his mother had slapped him, "our Johnny burst into tears when the janitor whistled up through the tube that a man had been run over by a truck at the corner and had just been taken away by the ambulance."
"Cause I don't get to see nawthin'!" lazy Slavinsky gits to see everything, and then he brags to me. That's why I'm so sensitive, maw!" explained Master Rangle with an air that indicated he would be so sensitive all his days that when she grew up he would be elected President just for that.
"Why hasn't the ladies any feet on the cards, mamma?" asked little Miss Jarr.
"Are we going to play cards or not?" asked Mr. Jarr.
"Yes, darling, Mamma will let you hold her cards," said Mrs. Rangle to her little girl.
"I wanta hold the cards! I wanta hold the cards!" cried little Miss Jarr.

"Give her some of your cards, papa," said Mrs. Jarr.
"What a stinky little bit!" exclaimed the dear little girl when Mr. Jarr in dumb despair handed her half of his ten.
And she threw them on the floor.
"Naughty, naughty! Mamma whip!" said Mrs. Jarr.
And then to Mr. Jarr:
"Pick up the cards and don't tease the child. She's just nervous and sleepy, for it's long past bedtime."
"Why not put her to bed then?" asked Mr. Jarr resignedly, as he picked up the cards.
"When they have company? When their little friends come to see them?"
"Well, shall we play?" asked Mr. Rangle blandly.
As he told Mr. Jarr afterward, he knew how it would be, so why worry and get a hangnail?
"I wanta play—I wanta play!" cried little Miss Jarr.
"I'll tell you what would be a splendid idea," interrupted Mrs. Rangle. "We'll hold the children in our laps and let them play the cards!"
"But Mr. Rangle and Mr. Jarr must not show Willie and Johnny HOW to play," said Mrs. Jarr. "It might teach them to be gamblers. You do not wish to be a gambler when you grow up, do you, Johnny?"
"Naw," answered Master Rangle. "I'm going to be an outlaw!"
"Johnny!" exclaimed his mother. "Now, just for saying such dreadful things you shan't play!"
"I've only 12 cards," said Mrs. Jarr. "Let us deal them all over again."
"Emma has all the queens," said Mr.

Jarr patiently.
"Oh, well, let her have them, the dear little thing, she's so cute!" gushed Mrs. Rangle. "There are plenty enough cards for us to play with."
"My dearly beloved wife and children, my highly esteemed neighbors and their children," remarked Mr. Jarr, rising to his feet, "you will excuse me for a little while. I saw at a picture store an engraving of Herod Slaughtering the Infants. I want to go out and buy it. Come, Rangle!"
And the insurgent husbands stalked out.
"Oh, let them go," said Mrs. Rangle. "I hate cards anyway. One has to concentrate one's mind on them so. And the men don't want you to speak a word!"
One on the Donkey.
A SCOTCHMAN was riding a donkey one day across a sheep pasture, but when the animal came to a sheep drain he would not go over. So the man rode back a short distance, turned and applied the whip, thinking, of course, that the donkey, when at top speed, would jump the drain. But when the donkey got to the drain he stopped sharply and the man went over his head and cleared the drain. No sooner had he touched the ground than he got up, and, looking the beast in the face, said: "Verra well pitched, but, then, hoo are ye goin' to get over yourself?"—Tit-Bits.

He'd Heard It.

A WELL-KNOWN idiot named Jamie Frazer surprised people sometimes by his replies. The members of one parish had for some time distressed the minister by their habit of sleeping in church. He had often endeavored to impress them with a sense of the impropriety of such conduct, and one day when Jamie Frazer was sitting in the front gallery wide awake when many were slumbering around him the clergyman endeavored to arouse the attention of his hearers by stating the fact, saying: "You see even Jamie Frazer, the idiot, does not fall asleep as so many of you are doing." Jamie, not liking perhaps to be designated, coolly replied: "An' if I hadn't been an idiot I would have been sleepin', too."—Tit-Bits.
